

Failure to Report a Violation

Every member of the University community has the duty to file a complaint with the Office of Student Affairs if it is felt a violation of the Honor Code has occurred. Failure to report a violation of the Honor Code is itself a violation. All members of the University community have an affirmative duty to participate in the inquiry or investigative process.